

THE IMPENDING FRENCH CIVIL WAR

Publication date: 18. May 2021

Check the website for the latest edition. If you have suggestions for improvements, please email: hellish2050@gmail.com

hellish2050.com

Contents

Sources.....	3
Chronology.....	4
Introduction.....	6
Islam Will Dominate The World.....	7
Letter From Generals.....	8
Translation of Letter.....	11
Reported in the UK Mainstream Media.....	14
Macron Threatens To Punish Generals.....	15
Generals Face Sanctions.....	28
French Interior Minister Confused.....	29
Majority of French Voters Agree.....	30
Liberty, Equality, Fraternity.....	31
Letter From Serving French Soldiers.....	32
The Letter by Serving Soldiers.....	34
Translation of The Letter by Serving Soldiers.....	37
France Should Have a Moratorium on Immigration.....	40
Military Coup?.....	43
UK: Islam Takes Over the Royal Navy	44
Conclusions.....	50

Sources

Concise Islam is a book that introduces Islam in a non-“politically correct” way. It is available here: hellish2050.com

The Abrogated Koran shows the abrogated verses crossed out, key verses colour coded by category, and the chapters are arranged in reverse chronological order. In other words, the most relevant chapter is read first. It is available here: hellish2050.com

Letter From Generals <https://www.valeursactuelles.com/politique/pour-un-retour-de-lhonneur-de-nos-gouvernants-20-generaux-appellent-macron-a-defendre-le-patriotisme/>

Daily Mail: French generals who called for military rule if President Macron cannot stop 'Islamists' from 'disintegrating society' will be punished, government declares

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-9514863/Twenty-retired-French-generals-call-MILITARY-RULE-country.html>

Jihad Watch: France: Macron threatens to ‘punish’ generals who signed open letter warning of ‘radical Islam’ stoking ‘civil war’
<https://www.jihadwatch.org/2021/04/france-macron-threatens-to-punish-generals-who-signed-open-letter-warning-of-radical-islam-stoking-civil-war>

France 24: Ex-generals face sanctions after they warn of 'civil war' in France

<https://www.france24.com/en/france/20210428-ex-generals-spark-backlash-as-they-warn-of-civil-war-in-france>

Jihad Watch: France: Interior Minister says ‘French Muslims are the first to fall victim to Islamists’

<https://www.jihadwatch.org/2021/05/france-interior-minister-says-french-muslims-are-the-first-to-fall-victim-to-islamists>

Daily Mail: Majority of French voters AGREE with generals who threatened a coup if Macron cannot stop 'Islamists from disintegrating society' - after 18 officers were fired over letter

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-9529841/Majority-French-voters-AGREE-military-chiefs-threaten.html>

Chronology

The list of Jihadi attacks in France since 2012. Finally, the veteran soldiers have had enough, they write a letter to the government, warning that a civil war is likely to happen. And are condemned for doing so!

15/03/12	Two soldiers in uniform murdered and one seriously injured by an Jihadi in Montauban.
19/03/12	Jihadis murdered 4 in a school in Toulouse.
07/01/15	Jihadi attack on Charlie Hebdo, Paris.
09/01/15	Jihadi attack against a Jewish supermarket, Paris.
26/06/15	Jihadi beheads a man near Lyon. The attack using gas cylinders fails.
21/08/15	Jihadi with automatic weapons opens fire on passengers on a train. Passengers subdue him. 5 injured.
13/11/15	Jihadi attacks (shootings and suicide bombs) in Paris killing 130, including at the Bataclan theatre.
13/06/16	Jihadi stabs a police officer and his wife in their home in Magnaville. On orders of ISIS to kill unbelievers. As commanded in the Koran.
14/07/16	Jihadi using a vehicle to ram people in Niece. Killing 86 and 434 injured.
03/02/17	Jihadi with a machete attacked guards near the Louvre. One was injured and the Muslim was shot dead.
20/04/17	Jihadi with an assault rifle killed a police officer and injured others in Paris.
23/03/18	Jihadi using guns and a vehicle killed 4 in Aude.
12/05/18	Jihadi with a knife killed 1 and injured 4 in Paris.
11/12/18	Jihadi with a gun and knife killed 5 in Strasbourg.
24/05/19	Jihadi using a bomb injures 13 in Lyon.
03/10/19	A radicalized admin worker at the Paris police HQ stabbed 4 to death using a ceramic knife.

03/01/20	Jihadi stabs 3, killing 1 at Villejuif, Paris.
04/04/20	Jihadi asylum seeker stabs 7 killing 2 at Romans-sur-Isère
27/04/20	Jihadi rams police officers seriously injuring 3 at Colombes.
25/09/20	Jihadi stabs 2 people at the former office of Charlie Hebdo.
16/10/20	A school teacher Samuel Paty is beheaded near Paris. He allegedly showed a cartoon to his class.
29/10/20	Three people killed and several injured by stabbing in a Roman Catholic basilica in Niece. One was beheaded.
21/04/21	Letter from 20 generals and 1000+ soldiers was published.

Introduction

France is in turmoil, under pressure from Islam. Unfortunately the president and those in government seem incapable of getting a grip on the situation, as it deteriorates.

The transition from a secular democracy, with values of "Liberté, Egalité, Fraternité", to a Sharia controlled totalitarian state is proving to be a painful experience. There are those who seek to halt and indeed to reverse the impending disaster. If they fail, the traditional way to resolve the matter is through a civil war. Given the relative age ranges, and the determination to succeed of the Muslim population compared to the non-Muslim population, it may well be that such a war would be won by the Islamic side. That such a civil war is likely can hardly be disputed. And it should not need to be stated but probably must: the act of pointing out that a civil war may happen is not at all the same as calling for such a war to happen. Indeed, anyone whose aim was to initiate such a war would surely not wish to alert their opponents to the possibility, by pointing out that it may occur.

Following years of attacks in France by Muslims upon non-Muslims, a letter was written by a significant group of mainly retired military personnel. They included 20 generals, around 100 officers, and around 1000 other personnel. These are people who have served France, putting their own lives at risk. The letter clearly demonstrates that they are concerned for the wellbeing of France and for the safety and freedom of French citizens.

The French government has responded, not as any reasonable organisation would, by taking the concerns seriously, and drawing up a plan to address the matter. Instead, the government has implied that these courageous patriotic soldiers are seditious! Those who signed and were still serving have been rapidly expelled. Surely it is those in government, who have encouraged Islam to expand in France, who are the ones guilty of sedition? How can any problem, in any field, be solved, if the person bringing the unhappy news that a problem exists is dismissed? The letter was published on the Valeurs Actuelles website. It is reproduced here in French, and a translation into English is given. The date on the website is 21 April 2021. As the letter points out, France is in serious difficulty. The reaction by President Macron and by government ministers clearly indicates that the current government is incapable of addressing the seriousness or the urgency of the threat. If this failure continues then civil war does seem highly probable.

Islam Will Dominate The World

...if we fail to act NOW!

Letter From Generals

Source: <https://www.valeursactuelles.com/politique/pour-un-retour-de-lhonneur-de-nos-gouvernants-20-generaux-appellent-macron-a-defendre-le-patriotisme/>

« Pour un retour de l'honneur de nos gouvernants » : 20 généraux appellent Macron à défendre le patriotisme

À l'initiative de Jean-Pierre Fabre-Bernadac, officier de carrière et responsable du site Place Armes, une vingtaine de généraux, une centaine de hauts-gradés et plus d'un millier d'autres militaires ont signé un appel pour un retour de l'honneur et du devoir au sein de la classe politique. Valeurs actuelles diffuse avec leur autorisation la lettre empreinte de conviction et d'engagement de ces hommes attachés à leur pays.

Monsieur le Président,

Mesdames, Messieurs du gouvernement,

Mesdames, Messieurs les parlementaires,

L'heure est grave, la France est en péril, plusieurs dangers mortels la menacent. Nous qui, même à la retraite, restons des soldats de France, ne pouvons, dans les circonstances actuelles, demeurer indifférents au sort de notre beau pays.

Nos drapeaux tricolores ne sont pas simplement un morceau d'étoffe, ils symbolisent la tradition, à travers les âges, de ceux qui, quelles que soient leurs couleurs de peau ou leurs confessions, ont servi la France et ont donné leur vie pour elle. Sur ces drapeaux, nous trouvons en lettres d'or les mots « Honneur et Patrie ». Or, notre honneur aujourd'hui tient dans la dénonciation du délitement qui frappe notre patrie.

– Délitement qui, à travers un certain antiracisme, s'affiche dans un seul but : créer sur notre sol un mal-être, voire une haine entre les communautés. Aujourd'hui, certains parlent de racialisme, d'indigénisme et de théories décoloniales, mais à travers ces termes c'est la guerre raciale que veulent ces partisans haineux et fanatiques. Ils méprisent notre pays, ses traditions, sa culture, et veulent le voir se dissoudre en lui arrachant son passé et son histoire. Ainsi s'en prennent-ils, par le biais de statues, à d'anciennes gloires militaires et civiles en analysant des propos vieux de plusieurs siècles.

– Délitement qui, avec l’islamisme et les hordes de banlieue, entraîne le détachement de multiples parcelles de la nation pour les transformer en territoires soumis à des dogmes contraires à notre constitution. Or, chaque Français, quelle que soit sa croyance ou sa non-croyance, est partout chez lui dans l’Hexagone ; il ne peut et ne doit exister aucune ville, aucun quartier où les lois de la République ne s’appliquent pas.

– Délitement, car la haine prend le pas sur la fraternité lors de manifestations où le pouvoir utilise les forces de l’ordre comme agents supplétifs et boucs émissaires face à des Français en gilets jaunes exprimant leurs désespoirs. Ceci alors que des individus infiltrés et encagoulés saccagent des commerces et menacent ces mêmes forces de l’ordre. Pourtant, ces dernières ne font qu’appliquer les directives, parfois contradictoires, données par vous, gouvernants.

Les périls montent, la violence s’accroît de jour en jour. Qui aurait prédit il y a dix ans qu’un professeur serait un jour décapité à la sortie de son collège ? Or, nous, serviteurs de la Nation, qui avons toujours été prêts à mettre notre peau au bout de notre engagement – comme l’exigeait notre état militaire, ne pouvons être devant de tels agissements des spectateurs passifs.

Aussi, ceux qui dirigent notre pays doivent impérativement trouver le courage nécessaire à l’éradication de ces dangers. Pour cela, il suffit souvent d’appliquer sans faiblesse des lois qui existent déjà. N’oubliez pas que, comme nous, une grande majorité de nos concitoyens est excédée par vos louvoiements et vos silences coupables.

Comme le disait le cardinal Mercier, primat de Belgique : « Quand la prudence est partout, le courage n’est nulle part. » Alors, Mesdames, Messieurs, assez d’atermoiements, l’heure est grave, le travail est colossal ; ne perdez pas de temps et sachez que nous sommes disposés à soutenir les politiques qui prendront en considération la sauvegarde de la nation.

Par contre, si rien n’est entrepris, le laxisme continuera à se répandre inexorablement dans la société, provoquant au final une explosion et l’intervention de nos camarades d’active dans une mission périlleuse de protection de nos valeurs civilisationnelles et de sauvegarde de nos compatriotes sur le territoire national.

On le voit, il n’est plus temps de tergiverser, sinon, demain la guerre civile mettra un terme à ce chaos croissant, et les morts, dont vous porterez la responsabilité, se compteront par milliers.

Les généraux signataires :

Général de Corps d'Armée (ER) Christian PIQUEMAL (Légion Étrangère), général de Corps d'Armée (2S) Gilles BARRIE (Infanterie), général de Division (2S) François GAUBERT ancien Gouverneur militaire de Lille, général de Division (2S) Emmanuel de RICHOUFFTZ (Infanterie), général de Division (2S) Michel JOSLIN DE NORAY (Troupes de Marine), général de Brigade (2S) André COUSTOU (Infanterie), général de Brigade (2S) Philippe DESROUSSEAUX de MEDRANO (Train), général de Brigade Aérienne (2S) Antoine MARTINEZ (Armée de l'air), général de Brigade Aérienne (2S) Daniel GROSMIRE (Armée de l'air), général de Brigade (2S) Robert JEANNEROD (Cavalerie), général de Brigade (2S) Pierre Dominique AIGUEPERSE (Infanterie), général de Brigade (2S) Roland DUBOIS (Transmissions), général de Brigade (2S) Dominique DELAWARDE (Infanterie), général de Brigade (2S) Jean Claude GROLIER (Artillerie), général de Brigade (2S) Norbert de CACQUERAY (Direction Générale de l'Armement), général de Brigade (2S) Roger PRIGENT (ALAT), général de Brigade (2S) Alfred LEBRETON (CAT), médecin Général (2S) Guy DURAND (Service de Santé des Armées), contre-amiral (2S) Gérard BALASTRE (Marine Nationale).

Translation of Letter

The article above, including the letter, has been translated into English using Google Translate. Note that this automatic translation process may not be perfect, however the overall meaning is clearly intelligible.

Translation:

“For a return of the honor of our rulers”: 20 generals call on Macron to defend patriotism

At the initiative of Jean-Pierre Fabre-Bernadac, career officer and manager of the Place Armes site, around twenty generals, a hundred senior officers and more than a thousand other soldiers signed an appeal for a return honor and duty within the political class. Current values disseminates, with their authorization, the letter imbued with conviction and commitment from these men attached to their country.

Mister President,

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Government,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

The hour is serious, France is in peril, several mortal dangers threaten her. We who, even in retirement, remain soldiers of France, cannot, in the current circumstances, remain indifferent to the fate of our beautiful country.

Our tricolor flags are not just a piece of cloth, they symbolize the tradition, down through the ages, of those who, whatever their skin color or faith, have served France and given their lives for it. On these flags we find in gold letters the words "Honor and Fatherland". However, our honor today lies in the denunciation of the disintegration which strikes our homeland.

- Discrimination which, through a certain anti-racism, is displayed with a single goal: to create on our soil unease, even hatred between communities. Today some speak of racialism, indigenism and decolonial theories, but through these terms it is racial war that these hateful and fanatic supporters want. They despise our country, its traditions, its culture, and want to see it dissolve by taking away its past and its history. Thus they attack, through statues, ancient military and civilian glories by analyzing words that are centuries old.

- Discrimination which, with Islamism and the suburban hordes, leads to the detachment of multiple plots of the nation to transform them into territories subject to dogmas contrary to our constitution. However, every Frenchman, whatever his belief or his non-belief, is at home everywhere in France; there cannot and must not exist any city or district where the laws of the Republic do not apply.

- Discrimination, because hatred takes precedence over brotherhood during demonstrations where the authorities use the police as proxy agents and scapegoats in the face of French people in yellow vests expressing their despair. This while undercover and hooded individuals ransack businesses and threaten these same law enforcement agencies. However, the latter only apply the directives, sometimes contradictory, given by you, the rulers.

The perils are mounting, the violence is increasing day by day. Who would have predicted ten years ago that a professor would one day be beheaded when he left college? However, we, servants of the Nation, who have always been ready to put our skin at the end of our engagement - as our military state demanded, cannot be passive spectators in the face of such actions.

It is therefore imperative that those who run our country find the courage to eradicate these dangers. To do this, it is often enough to apply existing laws without weakness. Remember that, like us, a large majority of our fellow citizens are overwhelmed by your dawdling and glib silences.

As Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, said: "When prudence is everywhere, courage is nowhere." So, ladies and gentlemen, enough procrastination, the hour is serious, the work is colossal; do not waste time and know that we are ready to support policies which will take into consideration the safeguard of the nation.

On the other hand, if nothing is done, laxity will continue to spread inexorably in society, ultimately causing an explosion and the intervention of our active comrades in a perilous mission of protecting our civilizational values and safeguarding our compatriots on the national territory.

As we can see, there is no more time to procrastinate, otherwise, tomorrow the civil war will put an end to this growing chaos, and the deaths, for which you will bear the responsibility, will number in the thousands.

The signatory generals:

General de Corps d'Armée (ER) Christian PIQUEMAL (Foreign Legion), General de Corps d'Armée (2S) Gilles BARRIE (Infantry), General of Division (2S) François GAUBERT former Military Governor of Lille, General of Division (2S) Emmanuel de RICHOUFFTZ (Infantry), Division General (2S) Michel JOSLIN DE NORAY (Marine Troops), Brigadier General (2S) André COUSTOU (Infantry), Brigadier General (2S) Philippe DESROUSSEAUX de MEDRANO (Train), Air Brigade General (2S) Antoine MARTINEZ (Air Force), Air Brigade General (2S) Daniel GROSMIRE (Air Force), Brigadier General (2S) Robert JEANNEROD (Cavalry), Brigadier General (2S) Pierre Dominique AIGUEPERSE (Infantry), Brigadier General (2S) Roland DUBOIS (Transmissions), Brigadier General (2S) Dominique DELAWARDE (Infantry), Brigadier General (2S) Jean Claude GROLIER (Artillery), Brigadier General (2S) Norbert de CACQUERAY (Directorate General of Armament), Brigadier General (2S) Roger PRIGEN T (ALAT), Brigadier General (2S) Alfred LEBRETON (CAT), General Doctor (2S) Guy DURAND (Army Health Service), Rear Admiral (2S) Gérard BALASTRE (Navy).

Reported in the UK Mainstream Media

Daily Mail: French generals who called for military rule if President Macron cannot stop 'Islamists' from 'disintegrating society' will be punished, government declares

Twenty retired generals, as well as serving officers, signed the ferocious rebuke. Incendiary letter claims France at risk of 'disintegration' at 'hands of Islamists'. Defence Minister Florence Parly warned 'these are unacceptable actions'. She added that those serving officers who signed letter would be disciplined.

By ROSS IBBETSON and DANYAL HUSSAIN and SOPHIE TANNO FOR MAILONLINE and AFP PUBLISHED: 27 April 2021

Emmanuel Macron has threatened to punish generals who signed an open letter warning that the country is heading for 'civil war' because of radical Islam. Twenty retired generals, as well as several serving soldiers, signed the letter which warned that failure to act against the 'suburban hordes' - a reference to the predominantly immigrant population of the housing estates which surround French cities - will lead to deaths 'in the thousands.'

The government strongly condemned the letter, which was published on the 60th anniversary of a failed coup d'etat by generals opposed to France granting independence to Algeria.

'These are unacceptable actions,' Defence Minister Florence Parly said Monday, adding that serving military members had flouted a law requiring them to remain politically neutral. 'There will be consequences, naturally,' Parly said, adding that she had instructed the army chief of staff to discipline them.

The open letter, published in Valeurs Actuelles, a right-wing magazine, claims a military coup might be necessary to stop a 'civil war' in France. Despite condemnation from the government and left-wing parties, Marine Le Pen hailed the letter which was signed by 80 officers, as well as the 20 generals.

Continue:

<https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-9514863/Twenty-retired-French-generals-call-MILITARY-RULE-country.html>

Macron Threatens To Punish Generals

<https://www.jihadwatch.org/2021/04/france-macron-threatens-to-punish-generals-who-signed-open-letter-warning-of-radical-islam-stoking-civil-war>

Published 29 April 2021. Quote:

France: Macron threatens to ‘punish’ generals who signed open letter warning of ‘radical Islam’ stoking ‘civil war’

APR 29, 2021 9:00 AM BY CHRISTINE DOUGLASS-WILLIAMS

France24, reports that 25 generals signed the document, not 20. More from the France24 report:

“The hour is grave, France is in peril,” the retired generals wrote, adding that failure to act against the “suburban hordes” — a reference to residents of the mainly immigrant areas that ring French cities — and other unnamed groups who “scorn our country” will lead to “civil war” and deaths “in the thousands”.

Anadolu News Agency stated:

The signatories of the letter went beyond the 25 retired generals. It included “more than 1,000 officials of different rank and files in the military, police and gendarmerie” who stated that they cannot remain “indifferent” and “passive spectators” under the current circumstances

Tensions kept rising in France between mainstream France and mainstream Muslim groups, and now comes the letter by the generals in an effort to steer France back to its fundamental values.

It was the beheading of school teacher Samuel Paty that caused an awakening in France. French citizens witnessed mainstream Muslim groups and leaders express some regret about Paty’s murder, but many also added that Paty should not have insulted Muhammad. The French were not willing to tolerate any “but” in this context; nor should they have done so. The condemnation of Paty’s murder should have been unequivocal. No hint of justification was acceptable. But instead, multitudes of Muslims from France, Pakistan and across the Islamic world justified his murder, some more tacitly and some blatantly.

Following Paty’s murder (as well as revelations about the horrific and shocking circumstances around it, involving schoolchildren and even relatives), the French government heightened its crackdown on “Islamic separatism.” In response, the Muslim lobby in France and beyond retaliated by accusing the French government of being “Islamophobic.” Condemnation came from as far away as Egypt, where the renowned Al Azhar in Cairo condemned Macron’s plan for fighting “Islamic separatism” as an “explicit call for racism and hate.” Macron came out in defense of the “right to blaspheme.” In Britain, the Archbishop of Canterbury. Justin Welby, also supports this right to blaspheme.

In any Western society, there is no room to accommodate any religion that violates the tenets of a free society. The freedom of speech is a cornerstone of any free society. And in any Western society, one can easily see that there are no religions except Islam that persistently and relentlessly attack this freedom, taking their fight all the way to the United Nations. That’s because offending Islam is a crime under the Sharia — a law that is at odds with otherwise universally accepted principles of human rights. “Islamophobia” initiatives from mainstream Muslim groups are intended to put a stop to any speech that may be offensive to Islam and Muslims.

See HERE for background about France

“French generals who called for military rule if President Macron cannot stop ‘Islamists’ from ‘disintegrating society’ will be punished, government declares,” by Ross Ibbetson, Danyal Hussain and Sophie Tanno, MailOnline, April 27, 2021:

“Emmanuel Macron has threatened to punish generals who signed an open letter warning that the country is heading for ‘civil war’ because of radical Islam.

Twenty retired generals, as well as several serving soldiers, signed the letter which warned that failure to act against the ‘suburban hordes’ – a reference to the predominantly immigrant population of the housing estates which surround French cities – will lead to deaths ‘in the thousands.’

The government strongly condemned the letter, which was published on the 60th anniversary of a failed coup d’etat by generals opposed to France granting independence to Algeria.

‘These are unacceptable actions,’ Defence Minister Florence Parly said Monday, adding that serving military members had flouted a law requiring them to remain politically neutral.

‘There will be consequences, naturally,’ Parly said, adding that she had instructed the army chief of staff to discipline them.

The open letter, published in Valeurs Actuelles, a right-wing magazine, claims a military coup might be necessary to stop a ‘civil war’ in France.

Despite condemnation from the government and left-wing parties, Marine Le Pen hailed the letter which was signed by 80 officers, as well as the 20 generals.

‘I invite you to join us in taking part in the coming battle, which is the battle of France,’ she wrote in a response to the letter.

Le Pen was widely criticised by her opponents on both the left and right for her overtures to the soldiers behind what the left-wing daily Liberation described as a ‘call to sedition’.

The lead signatory was Christian Piquemal, 80, who commanded the Foreign Legion before losing his privileges as a retired officer after being arrested while taking part in an anti-Islam demonstration in 2016.

It was written by Jean-Pierre Fabre-Bernadac, a former officer, and signed by 1000 others who were in lower ranks.....

Comments:

Viktor Smith (Ex-Christi@n) says Apr 29, 2021 at 9:54 am

Tough times are ahead! Lets hope Marine Le pen triumphs next election.... We need to fight Sh@ria L@w at any cost!

Exiles says Apr 30, 2021 at 3:27 am

There is another problem. How many countries will actually support France in a civil war and how many countries(including Western ones) will boycott them and accuse them of Islamophobia?

Mohini says Apr 29, 2021 at 10:00 am

I hope France is saved. But it does not seem likely. Even Marine Le Pen doesn’t have the power to deport the Muslim citizens of France. They’ll stay in France with zero French values, and poison the beautiful country from within.

JCA Reid says Apr 29, 2021 at 10:50 am

Speaking the Truth in France is now – officially – a Criminal Act! Islam is Radical. FULL STOP. Carl Jung, the psycho-analyst, described Hitler as a “modern day Mohammed.” So that makes Mohammed a 7th. Century Hitler! How can anyone follow & endorse Mohammed’s conduct of being: a mass murderer, rapist, Slaver, paedophile, necrophile, bandit, liar & a plagiarist to boot, as being exemplary conduct to emulate?

Wellington says Apr 29, 2021 at 10:54 am

It may have to come to military rule in France and other Western nations, though it certainly would be a drastic measure, but Islam is so awful and Western politicians so weak and foolish (many corrupt too) that there may be no other option eventually. I take no pleasure in indicating what I just have but Islam is a cancer in any Western society and the greater the percentage of Muslims in a Western society the more problems that society is going to have because Islam is not just another religion but a profoundly supremacist, intolerant, violent and ungrateful ideology that simply cannot co-exist with true democracy. Islam is awful and appeasement of Islam is awful. I strongly recommend that any Western nation proceed from these premises and act thereafter accordingly. Were this to occur, military rule could be discounted. If not, well then.....

Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 11:36 am

Wellington, you beat me to it! I too think that France needs a military coup and someone like Cardinal Richelieu to totally run things single-handedly, and crack down on muslims bigly! Start w/ all those jihadists, and then introduce in schools curricula that describe islam and its history as it really was. Make national heroes out of Charles Martel, if he’s not already! Make life for muslims so miserable that they’ll take the reverse trip across the Mediterranean to Algeria and Tunisia, where the authorities can determine their threat levels and incarcerate them accordingly or release them into the general population. Oh, and bring back the guillotine for those who absolutely refuse to leave! It’s time for a new constitution, and a Sixth Republic!

Wellington says Apr 29, 2021 at 11:52 am

Yes, Infidel, a Cardinal Richelieu type would arguably do nicely and extolling someone like Charles Martel would be a signal (more signals would be needed of course) to Muslims that France is done appeasing them. Muslims who don’t like this can choose from over fifty majority-Muslim nations to emigrate to.

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:23 pm

With all respect, I think that the French should elect Marine Le Pen. Besides all the other harm this would do, the idea that a dictator would necessarily be anti-Jihad seems pretty questionable.

Wellington says Apr 29, 2021 at 7:13 pm

I agree, gravenimage, that the “civilian route” is far preferable. But what if Le Pen turns out to be another BoJo and a military figure would truly understand the menace which is Islam. Which do you prefer under this scenario?

gravenimage says Apr 30, 2021 at 1:50 pm

I hope it does not come to this, Wellington—although it is a concern. But as I noted, the idea that a dictator is necessarily going to be an Anti-Jihadist is pretty iffy—certainly, this has not been the case with authoritarian figures like Putin, Duterte, Chavez, and others. And as bad as things are in the West now, imagine our having to face down Islamophilic dictators? Far from throwing out our freedoms to fight Islam, one of the main reasons I oppose Islam is because I so value our freedoms that Islam would destroy. This is worth fighting for as I see it.

mortimer says Apr 29, 2021 at 11:40 am

Politely disagree. Military rule will not stop jihadism. It will only create more perceived ‘victims’. The French army failed against jihadism in Algeria, because they didn’t understand what it is. All French military and police commanders should be reading Robert Spencer’s excellent books concerning jihad and the missing historical origins of Islam. This is an IDEOLOGICAL war and the only effective way to fight it is IDEOLOGICALLY.

Wellington says Apr 29, 2021 at 11:59 am

Agreed, mortimer, if the French military learns nothing from their “Algerian experience.” But a proper understanding of Islam plus military rule would be something far different, though I hope it doesn’t have to come to this. Politicians arising in Western European nations who are similar to those in Eastern European nations (e.g., Orban of Hungary) would be more than enough I should think but I see few on the horizon. The multi-centuries take on Islam that it is inimical to Western Civilization must manifest itself again. The Islamic world must understand that the West once more knows what Islam is really about and that it seeks to make all of the world part of the dar al-Islam with no dar al-harb left at all.

Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 3:36 pm

In Algeria, French were occupying a muslim country, whose people wanted independence. That's not analogous to the current situation, where muslims from North Africa and elsewhere are occupying France. Mortimer is wrong as usual: reminds me of Bush's first 'viceroy' in Iraq J Paul Bremmer

BlackSabbath says Apr 29, 2021 at 1:50 pm

Mortimer, You could be more wrong, but it is hard to imagine how. Real wars are not fought ideologically. Tanks, fighter jets, navy ships, special forces, and cyber operations are required to deal with Islam which has been in war with France and with rest of the Europe since its inception. There is nothing one can do to change mind of a jihadi. A bullet gets in the brain of a jihadi much more efficiently than a logical argument. I stand by military generals of France.

Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 3:39 pm

Real wars are fought physically (as well as now in Cyber) but the will to fight them has ideological underpinnings that have to be recognized by any side that wants to win

Keys says Apr 29, 2021 at 4:09 pm

I think your point here, Black Sabbath, can not be denied. This a both/and war. It must be fought ideologically and militarily, if necessary. So, peace through strength, yes, but being strong is useless if one has cancer. Work out all your want, but that won't cure the cancer within, which is best attacked as early as possible, and not without discomfort. Does anyone doubt that if Hitler had won WWII that he certainly would have exterminated every Jew in the world? Could the Spaniards of the 15th century have expelled the Muslims from "Al-Andalus" without military might? Ferdinand forced all Muslims in Castile and Aragon to convert to Catholicism or be expelled, but the west has no supreme Monarchs. Today Western countries can not expel Muslims due to religious freedom laws. And so the cancer spreads. Muslims should never have been allowed in, but they are here. The French Muslims for the most part are not integrating, not accepting French law over Sharia, so these Generals are very realistic. Attacks on their ideology is not likely to convince most of them. Very difficult for a Muslim since birth to go against the word of Allah and Mohammad. So, if the military must get involved, perhaps, like in 15th century Spain, some Muslims will stay because they are willing to accept and live with (or hide in) the culture and laws of France rather than be expelled. But the future for France, on the current course, will result in Muslims taking the democratic vote. Muslims have used hijra to conquer since the time of Mohammad as JW posters well know. And the war of Ideology is even more critical for convincing non-Muslims about the malicious, destructive nature of Islam for freedom loving peoples. Thanks to Robert Spencer for his mission here.

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:26 pm

The ideology of the fighters can make a difference. Many times a superior military force has been defeated if the fighters are not very committed. You are right that Jihadists are not apt to change their minds, though—they are committed to the savagery of Islam.

mortimer says Apr 29, 2021 at 11:33 am

No one in France seems to know what to do about the growing radicalism of Muslim youth. Many are descended from Muslim soldiers from Africa who fought for France in WWI and WWII. They cannot be deported, but they will not stop their jihad. What should be done. The retired generals think in terms of a military solution, but the problem here is not a military problem or just a crime problem. This is an IDEOLOGY problem and NOTHING is being done to dissuade Muslims to abandon the ideology. The only truly EFFECTIVE way to dissuade Muslims from JIHAD is to demonstrate to them that the SOURCE MANUAL of JIHAD (the Koran) is NOT OF DIVINE ORIGIN. Once Muslims see the Koran is of HUMAN ORIGIN, they stop being jihadists immediately.

James Lincoln says Apr 29, 2021 at 4:53 pm

mortimer, Do you really think that a hard-core jihadist like Boston Marathon bomber Dzhokhar Tsarnaev could be deprogrammed out of islam – just by showing him that the koran it is of human origin? Right now he's in ADX Florence, Colorado. Give it a try, and let us all know how you make out...

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:27 pm

Good question, James. I have asked Mortimer before how many Muslims he himself has “deprogrammed”, and he has always sidestepped this question.

Keys says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:45 pm

JL, I hope mortimer does not personally attempt to deprogram Tsarnaev, even if lessons are given while this angry killer is in a Hannibal Lecter cage. We need mortimer.

Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 6:26 pm

No we don't. We should send him to one of those SuperMax facilities that holds our prized jihadists, so that he can deprogram them by convincing them that the Quran is of human origin, and tells us how he did it. That would be a better use of his time than posting inane banalities here and abusing regular posters who either make jokes or sometimes express justifiable outrage at the latest incident of abduction, rape or murder by jihadists

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 6:35 pm

Mortimer is very knowledgeable about the texts, tenets, and history of Islam, and this is indeed very important here. I think he is very misguided in his belief that Muslims can easily be "deprogrammed"—but God knows I don't want to see any harm come to him from violent Jihadists.

James Lincoln says Apr 29, 2021 at 8:26 pm

I was being facetious in order to make a point, Keys...

Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 9:56 pm

I don't wish Mortimer harm. But if he's gonna keep claiming every day that muslims can be deprogrammed, or condemn innocuous posters on what he perceives as offensive, reacting almost like muslims would, he needs to be called out on it, and challenged to put his money where his mouth is. B'cos all he is doing is encouraging people to tone down their attacks on muslims, when it needs to be toned up!

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 11:16 pm

I knew that, James.

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 11:17 pm

I take your point, Infidel.

Check Burry says Apr 30, 2021 at 7:24 am

On release he will say "I have changed my views" Lyin toerag

DavidR says Apr 29, 2021 at 2:29 pm

Blasphemy laws are one of the few avenues for poor people to exert power over another human being. That's why they're so popular in places like Pakistan. Some petty squabble, envy, spite, religious bigotry, etc. can hide behind the generic and unimaginative accusations; "she burned pages of the Quran", " he offended the feelings of Muslims", "they insulted the Prophet", "that father with the pretty young girls recited the Quran out of context making it appear to be a violent religion that wants everybody else enslaved and subjugated to Muslims and so his daughters should be taken and married off to me".

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:30 pm

David—with all respect—the implication that blasphemy laws are always used by the poor is mistaken. In fact, it is impoverished Infidels who are most often victimized under such laws. I very much agree with the rest of your post, though.

tim gallagher says Apr 29, 2021 at 4:33 pm

These former military leaders speaking up against Islam and what it has brought to France is great news. Macron's attempt to shut down the truth telling is pathetic and cowardly. His attitude must be, hey, let's ignore the unpalatable truth for a while longer and bullshit to ourselves that everything is just fine. France is in big trouble because any country that lets the Muslims grow to over 8% of their population is in big trouble. Maybe when you get substantial figures like these former military leaders speaking up and telling the truth about the Muslim invaders, enough of the French people might be waking up to make France follow the Hungarian policy towards stinking Islam and show zero tolerance towards the barbaric Muslims. It would be great if Le Pen could gain power. Maybe she could do the right types of things. Macron obviously wants to stick his head in the sand for a while longer. Macron probably plans to piss off to some other country when things get really bad with the Muslim invading scum and desert the French people. It is always good to hear reports like this about people, such as these former military leaders, waking up to Islam's loathsome nature and the danger it represents..

roger Woodhouse says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:01 pm

The masses here in the UK know little or nothing about Christianity so they just 'assume' that Islam is just another religion to be 'ignored' This is the result of our secular education and the massive 'liberalising' and dumbing down in general of all things re. our national heritage. There is little or nothing on the horizon that would make me optimistic for the future. It will take a threat of civil war to wake the people of this country. They have been brainwashed by our leftwing media to the point that they would fight to defend 'Islams right to exist' in Britain no matter what evil it promotes.

James Lincoln says Apr 29, 2021 at 8:33 pm

roger Woodhouse says, "There is little or nothing on the horizon that would make me optimistic for the future." That is, indeed, beyond tragic roger...

JamesC, says Apr 30, 2021 at 12:00 am

That Britain is no longer subject to the EU is some comfort, though not much. We now have more freedom than we did to refuse to take in hordes of rapefugees – if only the politicians would wake up! Matters could be vastly better – but they could be even worse. My sincere apologies to anyone out there who thinks Brexit was a mistake. I'm not trying to start a fight about the desirability of being in the EU.

gravenimage says Apr 30, 2021 at 1:53 pm

I agree, James.

Aussie Infidel says Apr 30, 2021 at 12:13 am

Roger, It's not secularism (the separation of religion from the affairs of state) that's at fault – unless you are one of those people who think that you can't be good unless you believe in God. Secularism guarantees individuals freedom of religion; but that right is being undermined by many devout Christians who for their own selfish reasons, don't agree with that Constitutional protection. They believe that everyone should adopt their particular faith. And their opposition to secularism has left the door open for the Muslims to do the same – which they are pursuing with a vengeance. I would go so far as to claim that the guarantee of religious freedom (as it is currently worded) built into Western Constitutions is the greatest problem we have created. Protection of all religions without qualifications, makes it almost impossible to rein in the excesses of religions like Islam. I have many friends here in Australia who are former Brits (I even married one), and generally they all share the same views. Many of them also left Britain because of the deterioration of the communities in which they once lived, that was caused by Muslims. Little did they realize that the problems would soon follow them here. I agree with you that it will probably take a threat of civil war to really wake the people up. The problem in education is the removal of subjects like history and geography from the curriculum, and their replacement with subjects like environmental issues, gender studies and the Left's version of human rights. And here in Australia (until very recently), any attempt to include secular ethics in lieu of religious instruction in schools (for those students whose parents prefer it), has been opposed tooth and nail for decades by the Christians. In other words, the vacuum created by increasing secularism, has erroneously been replaced by Leftist indoctrination – and I suspect it is much the same in other parts of the Western world.

gravenimage says Apr 30, 2021 at 1:55 pm

Aussie Infidel, where are Christians demanding theocracy?

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:12 pm

France: Macron threatens to 'punish' generals who signed open letter warning of 'radical Islam' stoking 'civil war'. Just appalling targeting of French patriots. And here I thought that Macron was waking up to the threat of Islam.

Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 6:32 pm

I have more faith in Mohammed bin Salman having woken up to the threat of Islam than I have in Macron. The other day, I saw something on YouTube where MbS has issued a farman (edict) requiring schools in Saudi Arabia to teach Saudi kids about other cultures and religions, making English compulsory and teaching some basic concepts about Buddhism and Hinduism. This is huge, particularly for Saudi Arabia I do know that RS predicted that countries like KSA and UAE may be relaxing Islam now but may tighten it again under some future ruler, and I don't disbelieve him. But MbS seems to have a hold on his country that rivals that of Stalin, Tsar Peter the Great or Erdogan, and can do whatever he feels like. On top of that, age is on his side. Given enough time and assuming that his power doesn't fade, he is probably capable of bringing a permanent change to Saudi Arabia by which it would be impossible to revert to its Wahabi past

gravenimage says Apr 29, 2021 at 6:39 pm

Infidel, Stalin and Erdogan have not been particularly good for their nations. And Saudi Arabia is one of the most horrifying Shari'ah states in the world—I think most of these reforms under MbS are pretty much skin deep and largely for foreign consumption. I would like to be wrong, of course.

Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 7:04 pm

Graven, I was referring to the unchallenged power that Stalin and Erdogan had in their countries, not whether they were good for their countries. MbS has something very close, but is different that he may well change his country for the better. You're right about Saudi Arabia, but internally, there's no reason for MbS to introduce the type of changes I described above as far as international perceptions go. Particularly since even the US now has a government that would be just fine w/ jihadist setups anywhere. But he seems to recognize that his country might either run out of oil altogether, or that even if it stays, its market price will fall so low that it wouldn't be worth drilling anymore. I do think that since the several generations of Arabs did manage to obliterate their jahiliya history, he's now making them study other cultures and learn how to deal w/ the rest of the world on their terms, since they won't forever be able to keep lying on the beaches and playing video games. Bottom line: I have little faith in the Saudis, but I am impressed by MbS. And no, Khashoggi doesn't obliterate that.

gravenimage says Apr 30, 2021 at 2:06 pm

Infidel, I would be thrilled if Saudi Arabia becomes moderate—just not sure I see that happening. I think more of this is for western consumption—like his giant billboards in London, emblazoned with his face and “He is Bringing Change to Saudi Arabia”.

Aussie Infidel says Apr 29, 2021 at 5:59 pm

This is what happens when politicians fail to protect their citizens – and Western politicians everywhere have failed in their duty of care against the intrusion of Islam into their communities. Military rule would be a drastic step to take, and would curb many of the freedoms Westerners take for granted, but infinitely better than civil war. But the military would need to embark on a re-education campaign for all French citizens on the unpalatable truths about Islam, and its doctrine of hatred and jihad against all non-Muslims. All mosques should be closed, prayer gatherings banned, and all imams deported. Military justice might also have to be implemented against anyone who did not comply with orders. It seems as if after decades of appeasement and abetting the Arab League by leaders of the EU – particularly the French going all the way back to President de Gaulle – that some degree of sanity is finally emerging. For the sake of peace loving people everywhere, I hope Macron – and all other Western leaders – heeds what that letter says, and he acts to prevent any civil war – but I won't be holding my breath.

Walter Sieruk says Apr 30, 2021 at 12:13 am

The term that Macron used "Radical Islam" isn't that accurate . What Macron referred to as "radical Islam" may be more actually defined as "hard core non -watered down violent jihad Islam that is totally based on the Qu'ran. As seen in ,for example, Surah 2:191. 4:89. 5:33.. 9:5,111,112, 123. 47;4.

JCA Reid says Apr 30, 2021 at 8:43 am

Wakey, Wakey! Islam is at WAR with the Rest of Mankind. Our "Leaders" are selling their Peoples & Countries into a Dystopian Nightmare. They don't care, as they' will have died & the Future Generations will have to deal with the cr*p they permitted to fester & take root, during their tenure.

JollyMay says Apr 30, 2021 at 1:45 pm

The situation in France is this: French citizens will elect their president in 2022. Macron is preparing for this. But, last week, another Tunisian illegal immigrant stabbed and killed a female secretary in a police station in Rambouillet. Annoyed at this new bloody attack on France, and in response, retired army officers published said call to Macron to react. Macron is now accusing them falsely of calling for insurgency and preparing a coup, threatens them with disciplinary sanctions, etc. I think that Macron reacted impulsively. The French population overwhelmingly sides with these army officers. Macron had better think twice before punishing these army officers, it could cost him his seat in 2022.

peter says Apr 30, 2021 at 7:14 pm

I think all the media in the west including BBC, Aljazeera(middle east) and American popular media will do their best to destroy Le Pen as they did to Trump because the greatest threat to sovereignty of France does not necessarily come from Jihadists but by the European Union which has been an enabler of Jihadism. Le Pen shrewd as she is will make make sure that France will pull out of European Union. I do not know if a military dictator is elected, the European Union will recognize him. In either event, the first step towards fighting Jihadism will be to pull out of European Union on the lines of Brexit. It is more likely to happen with Le pen than with a military dictator.

Generals Face Sanctions

<https://www.france24.com/en/france/20210428-ex-generals-spark-backlash-as-they-warn-of-civil-war-in-france>

Ex-generals face sanctions after they warn of 'civil war' in France

Issued on: 28/04/2021

Eighteen serving officers who signed an open letter warning about the risk of "civil war" in France will face sanctions before a military council, the chief of staff of the armed forces said Wednesday.

"Each one (will go) before a senior military council," General Francois Lecointre told Le Parisian newspaper, and could be "delisted" or "put into immediate retirement".

The open letter, published by right-wing magazine Valeurs Actuelles last week, predicted that failure to act against "suburban hordes" -- or residents of mainly immigrant suburban areas -- and other groups who "scorn our country" will lead to "civil war" and deaths "in the thousands".

Prime Minister Jean Castex labelled the rare intervention in politics by military figures "an initiative against all of our republican principles, of honour and the duty of the army".

The main instigators of the letter are alleged to have ties to far-right, anti-immigration movements in France.

The first signatory, Jean-Pierre Fabre-Bernadac, once ran security in the 1990s for the National Front leader, the Canard Enchaîné newspaper reported.

Others include retired general Antoine Martinez, who founded "Volontaires pour la France", a right-wing group committed to defending "traditional French values".

The letter went on to say, "laxist" government policies would result in chaos requiring "the intervention of our comrades on active duty in a perilous mission of protection of our civilisational values".

(AFP)

French Interior Minister Confused

The French Interior Minister appears to be confused about Islam. See this article on the Jihad Watch website:

<https://www.jihadwatch.org/2021/05/france-interior-minister-says-french-muslims-are-the-first-to-fall-victim-to-islamists>

France: Interior Minister says ‘French Muslims are the first to fall victim to Islamists’

MAY 2, 2021 3:00 PM BY ROBERT SPENCER

It would be interesting to see how Darmanin distinguishes Islamism from Islam, and explains how the latter has ever existed without its political and supremacist manifestations, but it is unlikely that he does so, or will be asked to do so.

Jihadis justify violence and make recruits among peaceful Muslims by claiming to be the exponents of authentic Islam. It will be interesting to see if Darmanin, or Muslims in France, or anyone else comes up with any comprehensive refutation of that claim, based on Islamic principles. There have been some who have claimed to have provided that refutation, but only did so by ignoring the existence of uncomfortable Qur’anic passages. But in today’s world it is “Islamophobic” to notice such unwelcome and uncomfortable facts.

Comments:

Raja says May 2, 2021 at 3:13 pm

For France it has been one step forward and two steps backward for quiet some time, when dealing with Islam and its terror. Good luck to this minister for attempting to separate Muslims from Islamists. How long will these Leftists try to white wash Islam?.

Wellington says May 2, 2021 at 3:48 pm

“How long will these Leftists try to white wash Islam?”

As long as they remain Leftists, the answer to your depressing query is “forever” since remaining a Leftist means you never learn how the world really works. Leftists function in a false world as much as Muslims do. One of several reasons, all rotten reasons, why Leftists and Muslims are allies.

Majority of French Voters Agree

Daily Mail: Majority of French voters AGREE with generals who threatened a coup if Macron cannot stop 'Islamists from disintegrating society' - after 18 officers were fired over letter

Letter from 20 retired generals, and another 1,000 soldiers, published Sunday. 18 serving soldiers have been sacked for signing letter which threatened coup. But 58% of people polled by news channel LCI supported letter, 42% opposed it. Even among Macron supporters, poll found that 46% supported the declaration.

By ROSS IBBETSON FOR MAILONLINE PUBLISHED: 30 April 2021

A majority of French voters have said they agree with the generals who threatened a coup if Emmanuel Macron cannot prevent the rise of radical Islam, according to new a poll.

Published last week in right-wing magazine Valuer Actuelles (Today's Values), the explosive letter warned of the 'disintegration' of France because of radical Islamic 'hordes' living in the suburbs.

More than 1,000 retired soldiers signed the letter, including at least 18 serving officers, who were condemned as 'absolutely revolting' by Macron's top general.

But, in signs of a deepening chasm between the president and the electorate, a new poll published by news channel La Chaîne Info has found that 58 per cent supported the letter, while 42 per cent were opposed.

Among respondents who vote for Marine Le Pen's Rassemblement National (RN) party the proportion of those who supported the letter rose to 86 per cent. Among voters for the centre-right Les Républicains, 71 per cent were in favour of the declaration, while even among supporters of Macron's La République en Marche, 46 per cent backed the letter.

The lead signatory was Christian Piquemal, 80, who commanded the Foreign Legion before losing his privileges as a retired officer after being arrested while taking part in an anti-Islam demonstration in 2016.

It was written by Jean-Pierre Fabre-Bernadac, a former officer, and signed by 1,000 others who were in lower ranks.

Continue: <https://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-9529841/Majority-French-voters-AGREE-military-chiefs-threaten.html>

Liberty, Equality, Fraternity

<https://www.diplomatie.gouv.fr/en/coming-to-france/france-facts/symbols-of-the-republic/article/liberty-equality-fraternity>

A legacy of the Age of Enlightenment, the motto "Liberté, Égalité, Fraternité" first appeared during the French Revolution. Although it was often called into question, it finally established itself under the Third Republic. It was written into the 1958 Constitution and is nowadays part of the French national heritage. Linked by François Fénelon at the end of the 17th century, the notions of "liberty", "equality" and "fraternity" became more widespread during the Age of Enlightenment.

At the time of the French Revolution, "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity" was one of the many mottos in use. In a December 1790 speech on the organization of the National Guards, Maximilien Robespierre advocated that the words "The French People" and "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity" be written on uniforms and flags, but his proposal was rejected.

From 1793 onwards, Parisians, soon to be imitated by the inhabitants of other cities, painted the following words on the façades of their houses: "Unity, indivisibility of the Republic; liberty, equality or death". But they were soon asked to erase the phrase's final part as it was too closely associated with the Reign of Terror.

This motto fell into disuse under the Empire, like many revolutionary symbols. It reappeared during the Revolution of 1848 marked with a religious dimension: priests celebrated the "Christ-Fraternité" and blessed the trees of liberty that were planted at the time. When the Constitution of 1848 was drafted, the motto "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity" was defined as a "principle" of the Republic.

Discarded under the Second Empire, this motto finally established itself under the Third Republic, although some people still objected to it, including partisans of the Republic: solidarity was sometimes preferred to equality which implies a levelling of society, and the Christian connotation of fraternity was not accepted by everyone.

This motto was inscribed again on the pediments of public buildings on the occasion of the celebration of 14 July 1880. It appears in the constitutions of 1946 and 1958 and is today an integral part of our national heritage. It is found on items used by the general public such as coins and postage stamps.

Letter From Serving French Soldiers

As reported on the Voice of America website:

<https://www.voanews.com/europe/second-open-letter-french-soldiers-warns-civil-insurrection>

Quote:

Second Open Letter by French Soldiers Warns of Civil Insurrection

By Lisa Bryant May 10, 2021 12:28 PM

PARIS - Disquiet is growing within France's military ranks, with the publication of a second open letter — this time by serving soldiers — warning growing Islamism, delinquency and violence threaten the country's very survival.

This latest open letter by members of France's armed forces is making headlines — and stirring debate. Like one last month signed by some 20 retired generals, it too warns of civilian insurrection — fueled, it claims, by President Emmanuel Macron's alleged concessions to fundamentalist Islam.

But this newest missive, published late Sunday by right-wing magazine Valeurs Actuelles, is from an anonymous group of soldiers currently serving in the army. They describe serving in countries like Afghanistan and Central African Republic—and losing friends in the fight against fundamentalist Islam which they claim Macron is caving into at home.

The group endorses the earlier letter by the generals—and criticizes the president for allegedly disrespected those officers. But it says the military will maintain order in France, should civil war break out.

Macron's government blasted the generals' letter as defying Republican principles and the army's duty. It says its signatories will be punished.

Critics also include far-left leader Jean-Luc Melenchon. In remarks to French media, he called for an investigation claiming the generals' letter amounted to a call for a coup.

But a recent poll suggests the majority of French support that letter. An online petition backing this latest letter by serving officers quickly got nearly 1,000 signatories within hours. News reports suggest up to 2,000 French soldiers also back the generals' call.

So does the main opposition Far-right National Rally party.

Leading National Rally politician, Thierry Mariani, told French radio Monday the military are loyal to the country. The letters' authors, he said, were simply voicing today's reality.

The letters come amid heightened concern about radical Islam here, following a spate of terrorist attacks. Government legislation, aimed to boost the anti-terrorism response and crack down on extremist groups, has drawn criticism from the left for going too far— and the right for not going far enough.

The Letter by Serving Soldiers

Published here:

<https://www.valeursactuelles.com/societe/exclusif-signez-la-nouvelle-tribune-des-militaires/>

Quote:

[Exclusif] Signez la nouvelle tribune des militaires

Depuis quelques jours, la rumeur courait qu'une nouvelle tribune de militaires allait être dévoilée. Émanant de militaires d'active, elle vient en soutien à celle précédemment publiée sur le site de Valeurs actuelles. Ce texte, qui circule déjà beaucoup et dont les médias se font l'écho, nous avons décidé de le publier ce soir. Et de l'ouvrir, en bas de cette tribune, à la signature des citoyens français qui le trouveraient à la hauteur des enjeux qui sont les nôtres. Tout en continuant, avec une méthodologie exigeante, à nous tenir à la disposition des professionnels des armées qui souhaiteraient y prendre part. Comme la précédente, le but de cette tribune n'est pas de mettre à mal nos institutions mais d'alerter sur la gravité de la situation

Par <https://www.valeursactuelles.com/historique/valeursactuelles-com>

Publié le 9 mai 2021 à 22h18 Mis à jour le 10 mai 2021 à 22h12

Monsieur le Président de la République,

Mesdames et Messieurs les ministres, parlementaires, officiers généraux, en vos grades et qualités,

On ne chante plus le septième couplet de la Marseillaise, dit « couplet des enfants ». Il est pourtant riche d'enseignements. Laissons-lui le soin de nous les prodiguer :

« Nous entrerons dans la carrière quand nos aînés n'y seront plus. Nous y trouverons leur poussière, et la trace de leurs vertus. Bien moins jaloux de leur survivre que de partager leur cercueil, nous aurons le sublime orgueil de les venger ou de les suivre »

Nos aînés, ce sont des combattants qui ont mérité qu'on les respecte. Ce sont par exemple les vieux soldats dont vous avez piétiné l'honneur ces dernières semaines. Ce sont ces milliers de serviteurs de la France, signataires d'une tribune de simple bon sens, des soldats qui ont donné leurs plus belles années pour défendre notre liberté, obéissant à vos ordres, pour faire vos guerres ou mettre en œuvre vos restrictions budgétaires, que vous avez salis alors que le peuple de France les soutenait.

Ces gens qui ont lutté contre tous les ennemis de la France, vous les avez traités de factieux alors que leur seul tort est d'aimer leur pays et de pleurer sa visible déchéance.

Dans ces conditions, c'est à nous, qui sommes récemment entrés dans la carrière, d'entrer dans l'arène pour avoir simplement l'honneur d'y dire la vérité.

Nous sommes de ce que les journaux ont nommé « la génération du feu ». Hommes et femmes, militaires en activité, de toutes les armées et de tous les grades, de toutes les sensibilités, nous aimons notre pays. Ce sont nos seuls titres de gloire. Et si nous ne pouvons pas, réglementairement, nous exprimer à visage découvert, il nous est tout aussi impossible de nous taire.

Afghanistan, Mali, Centrafrique ou ailleurs, un certain nombre d'entre nous ont connu le feu ennemi. Certains y ont laissé des camarades. Ils ont offert leur peau pour détruire l'islamisme auquel vous faites des concessions sur notre sol.

Presque tous, nous avons connu l'opération Sentinelle. Nous y avons vu de nos yeux les banlieues abandonnées, les accommodements avec la délinquance. Nous avons subi les tentatives d'instrumentalisation de plusieurs communautés religieuses, pour qui la France ne signifie rien -rien qu'un objet de sarcasmes, de mépris voire de haine.

Nous avons défilé le 14 juillet. Et cette foule bienveillante et diverse, qui nous acclamait parce que nous en sommes l'émanation, on nous a demandé de nous en méfier pendant des mois, en nous interdisant de circuler en uniforme, en faisant de nous des victimes en puissance, sur un sol que nous sommes pourtant capables de défendre.

Oui, nos aînés ont raison sur le fond de leur texte, dans sa totalité. Nous voyons la violence dans nos villes et villages. Nous voyons le communautarisme s'installer dans l'espace public, dans le débat public. Nous voyons la haine de la France et de son histoire devenir la norme.

Ce n'est peut-être pas à des militaires de dire cela, arguez-vous. Bien au contraire : parce que nous sommes apolitiques dans nos appréciations de situation, c'est un constat professionnel que nous livrons. Car cette déchéance, nous l'avons vue dans bien des pays en crise. Elle précède l'effondrement. Elle annonce le chaos et la violence, et contrairement à ce que vous affirmez ici où là, ce chaos et cette violence ne viendront pas d'un « pronunciamiento militaire » mais d'une insurrection civile.

Pour ergoter sur la forme de la tribune de nos aînés au lieu de reconnaître l'évidence de leurs constats, il faut être bien lâche. Pour invoquer un devoir de réserve mal interprété dans le but de faire taire des citoyens français, il faut être bien fourbe. Pour encourager les cadres dirigeants de l'armée à prendre position et à s'exposer, avant de les sanctionner rageusement dès qu'ils écrivent autre chose que des récits de batailles, il faut être bien pervers.

Lâcheté, fourberie, perversion : telle n'est pas notre vision de la hiérarchie.

L'armée est au contraire, par excellence, le lieu où l'on se parle vrai parce que l'on engage sa vie. C'est cette confiance en l'institution militaire que nous appelons de nos vœux.

Oui, si une guerre civile éclate, l'armée maintiendra l'ordre sur son propre sol, parce qu'on le lui demandera. C'est même la définition de la guerre civile. Personne ne peut vouloir une situation aussi terrible, nos aînés pas plus que nous, mais oui, de nouveau, la guerre civile couve en France et vous le savez parfaitement.

Le cri d'alarme de nos Anciens renvoie enfin à de plus lointains échos. Nos aînés, ce sont les résistants de 1940, que, bien souvent, des gens comme vous traitaient de factieux, et qui ont continué le combat pendant que les légalistes, transis de peur, misaient déjà sur les concessions avec le mal pour limiter les dégâts ; ce sont les poilus de 14, qui mouraient pour quelques mètres de terre, alors que vous abandonnez, sans réagir, des quartiers entiers de notre pays à la loi du plus fort; ce sont tous les morts, célèbres ou anonymes, tombés au front ou après une vie de service.

Tous nos aînés, ceux qui ont fait de notre pays ce qu'il est, qui ont dessiné son territoire, défendu sa culture, donné ou reçu des ordres dans sa langue, ont-ils combattu pour que vous laissiez la France devenir un Etat failli, qui remplace son impuissance régaliennne de plus en plus patente par une tyrannie brutale contre ceux de ses serviteurs qui veulent encore l'avertir ?

Agissez, Mesdames et Messieurs. Il ne s'agit pas, cette fois, d'émotion sur commande, de formules toutes faites ou de médiatisation. Il ne s'agit pas de prolonger vos mandats ou d'en conquérir d'autres. Il s'agit de la survie de notre pays, de votre pays.

Translation of The Letter by Serving Soldiers

Using Google Translate, here is the letter in English:

[Exclusive] Sign the new military forum

For a few days, the rumor had been running that a new military platform was going to be unveiled. Coming from active soldiers, it supports the one previously published on the site of Current values. This text, which is already circulating a lot and which the media echo, we have decided to publish it this evening. And to open it, at the bottom of this platform, for the signature of French citizens who would find it up to the challenges that are ours. While continuing, with a demanding methodology, to make ourselves available to military professionals who wish to take part. Like the previous one, the purpose of this forum is not to undermine our institutions but to alert people to the gravity of the situation.

By <https://www.valeursactuelles.com/historique/valeursactuelles-com>

Posted on May 9, 2021 at 10:18 p.m. Updated on May 10, 2021 at 10:12 p.m.

Mr. President of the Republic,

Ladies and Gentlemen, Ministers, Members of Parliament, General Officers, in your ranks and qualities,

We no longer sing the seventh verse of the Marseillaise, known as the "children's verse". Yet it is rich in lessons. Let us leave it to him to lavish them on us:

"We will enter the quarry when our elders are gone. We will find their dust there, and the traces of their virtues. Much less jealous of surviving them than of sharing their coffin, we will have the sublime pride of avenging them or of following them "

Our elders are fighters who deserve to be respected. These are for example the old soldiers whose honor you have trampled on in recent weeks. It is these thousands of servants of France, signatories of a platform of common sense, soldiers who gave their best years to defend our freedom, obeying your orders, to wage your wars or to implement your budget restrictions, which you soiled while the people of France supported them.

These people who fought against all the enemies of France, you have treated them as factious when their only fault is to love their country and to mourn its visible downfall.

So it's up to us, who recently entered the career, to step into the arena just to have the honor of telling the truth.

We are what the newspapers have called "the fire generation". Men and women, active soldiers, of all armies and of all ranks, of all sensibilities, we love our country. These are our only claims to fame. And if we cannot, by law, express ourselves with our face uncovered, it is just as impossible for us to be silent.

Afghanistan, Mali, Central African Republic or elsewhere, a number of us have experienced enemy fire. Some have left comrades there. They offered their skins to destroy the Islamism you are making concessions to on our soil.

Almost all of us have known Operation Sentinel. We saw with our own eyes the abandoned suburbs, the accommodation with delinquency. We have endured the attempts to instrumentalize several religious communities, for whom France means nothing - nothing but an object of sarcasm, contempt and even hatred.

We marched on July 14th. And this benevolent and diverse crowd, which acclaimed us because we are the emanation of it, we were asked to beware of it for months, by forbidding us to circulate in uniform, by making us potential victims, on a soil that we are nevertheless capable of defending.

Yes, our elders are right about the substance of their text, in its entirety. We see violence in our towns and villages. We see communitarianism taking hold in public space, in public debate. We see hatred for France and its history becoming the norm.

It may not be for the military to say that, you will argue. On the contrary: because we are apolitical in our assessments of the situation, it is a professional observation that we deliver. Because this decline, we have seen it in many countries in crisis. It precedes the collapse. It announces chaos and violence, and contrary to what you are asserting here and there, this chaos and this violence will not come from a "military pronunciamiento" but from a civil insurrection.

To quibble about the shape of our elders' platform instead of acknowledging the obviousness of their findings, you have to be cowardly.

To invoke a duty of reserve badly interpreted in order to silence French citizens, one must be very deceitful. In order to encourage senior military officials to take a stand and expose themselves, before fiercely sanctioning them whenever they write anything other than battle stories, you have to be very perverse.

Cowardice, deceit, perversion: this is not our view of the hierarchy.

On the contrary, the army is, par excellence, the place where we speak truthfully to each other because we commit our lives. It is this confidence in the military institution that we call for.

Yes, if a civil war breaks out, the military will maintain order on its own soil, because it will be asked to. This is even the definition of civil war. No one can want such a terrible situation, our elders no more than us, but yes, again, civil war is brewing in France and you know it perfectly well.

The cry of alarm of our Ancients finally sends back to more distant echoes. Our elders are the resistance fighters of 1940, whom people like you very often treated as factious, and who continued the fight while the legalists, transfixed with fear, were already betting on concessions with evil to limit the damage; it is the hairy of 14, who died for a few meters of land, while you abandon, without reacting, entire districts of our country to the law of the strongest; they are all the dead, famous or anonymous, fallen at the front or after a lifetime of service.

All our elders, those who made our country what it is, who designed its territory, defended its culture, gave or received orders in its language, did they fight for you to let France become a failed state? , who replaces his increasingly obvious sovereign powerlessness with a brutal tyranny against those of his servants who still want to warn him?

Take action, ladies and gentlemen. This time it is not about custom emotion, ready-made formulas or media coverage. It's not about extending your terms or winning new ones. It is about the survival of our country, of your country.

France Should Have a Moratorium on Immigration

<https://www.jihadwatch.org/2021/05/france-former-eu-brexit-negotiator-calls-for-a-3-5-year-ban-on-immigration-due-to-jihad-terror>

France: Former EU Brexit negotiator calls for a 3-5 year ban on immigration due to jihad terror

MAY 15, 2021 BY CHRISTINE DOUGLASS-WILLIAMS

France is drowning in problems associated with the threat of jihad terror, which escalated after the beheading of schoolteacher Samuel Paty because he showed Muhammad cartoons to his class.

Recently, letters from retired and currently serving military personnel warned France of an impending “civil war” if the country continues along its current path.

Now in another warning, reminiscent of the American travel ban on several Muslim and non-Muslim countries of concern, French politician Michel Barnier, the European Union’s former chief Brexit negotiator, has stated that “France should commit to a three to five-year moratorium on immigration in light of problems such as terrorism.” That is, Islamic jihad terrorism. Muslim countries are not specifically mentioned, but those have been the countries of concern that have contributed to the terror threat in France. Barnier went on to admit “that the country’s immigration system is ‘not working’ and that the European Union’s common external border has been reduced to a ‘sieve.’”

Needless to say, the “sieve” of France’s open borders is a boon for jihadists.

Just in the last few weeks in France:

•France: Over 1,000 illegal Muslim migrants on French anti-terror watch list

•France soldiers new letter says survival of nation at stake because of macrons concessions to Islamism

•France: Muslim migrant known to police shoots his wife, burns her alive on public street

●‘One Mosque Is Erected Every 15 Days in France, While One Christian Building Is Destroyed At the Same Pace’

●Islamic Republic of Iran envoy found guilty of bomb plot at dissident rally in France drops appeal

●France: Interior Minister says ‘French Muslims are the first to fall victim to Islamists’

●France: Muslim who stabbed woman to death was in touch with pro-jihad Islamic cleric

●France: Protesters jeer at leftist politicians at rally for Jewish woman murdered by Muslim who won’t be prosecuted

●France: Macron threatens to ‘punish’ generals who signed open letter warning of ‘radical Islam’ stoking ‘civil war’

●France: Imam supports niqab ban, Muslims threaten to kill him, put a bounty on his head

●France: Teen gets death threats after defending Islam critic

●France: Muslim migrant who stabbed police officer to death was screaming ‘Allahu akbar’

“France Needs a 3-5 Year Moratorium on Immigration, Says Michel Barnier,” by Kurt Zindulka, Breitbart, May 12, 2021:

France should commit to a three to five-year moratorium on immigration in light of problems such as terrorism, the European Union’s former chief Brexit negotiator has said.

French politician Michel Barnier admitted that the country’s immigration system is “not working” and that the European Union’s common external border has been reduced to a “sieve”.

Appearing on the France Télévisions public broadcaster on Monday, Barnier said: “I try to look at the problems as they are, as the French people experience them. I think that it is indeed necessary to take the time for three or five years of suspended immigration.”

The former Brexit negotiator also called for the European Union’s internal Schengen border system — once described as “effectively an international passport-free zone for terrorists” by a former INTERPOL chief — to become “more rigorous” in order to tackle issues of security and human trafficking and make increasing deportations of illegal migrants to their country of origin easier.

“These are major projects to find solutions to this problem of immigration, which does not work,” he said.

The so-called Free Movement migration regime within the EU was a central issue in the Brexit campaign of 2016, with Leavers vowing to “take back control” of Britain’s borders.

Strikingly, Mr Barnier’s proposal for a five-year immigration pause is similar to ideas put forward by the United Kingdom Independence Party (UKIP) under then-leader Nigel Farage, who called for a five-year prohibition on importing unskilled workers in the run-up to the 2016 EU Referendum.

In April, Michel Barnier warned that if French president Emmanuel Macron fails to learn the lessons of Brexit — notably on issues such as mass migration — then France could follow the United Kingdom’s lead and leave the European Union.

“We can find, not just in the UK, but here in France, in the northern and eastern regions... citizens who want to leave the EU,” he said.

The centre-right eurocrat launched a political faction in France in February, opening the door for a potential run for the French presidency in 2022. Barnier, who is currently on tour promoting his book, The Grand Illusion, has been mooted as a possible presidential candidate for the Les Républicains (LR) party.

Mr Macron, for his part, has seen his support in the polls eroded by the populist right-wing leader of the National Rally (RN) party, Marine Le Pen, who has been a vocal critic of mass immigration, particularly from Islamic countries....

Military Coup?

Here is an article in the Spectator:

John Keiger 2 May 2021

France's military wages war on Macron's values

On 21 April 1961 France's most senior generals staged a putsch in French Algiers, still an integral part of France. The military coup was in reaction to the policies of the president of the Republic, General de Gaulle, and his belated decision to abandon Algeria to independence. The generals felt this betrayed their honour and that of their fallen comrades after seven years of a bloody war against Algerian 'terrorists' to keep Algeria French.

Fast forward sixty years to 21 April 2021. Twenty retired generals (some four-star), a hundred mostly retired senior officers and a thousand military personnel signed a chilling letter in the right-wing French weekly Valeurs actuelles addressed to the President of the Republic, the government and parliamentarians. It appealed for 'honour to be restored to our rulers' and warned of a 'disintegration' of French society as a result of government policy: '... there is no time for prevarication, if not, tomorrow civil war will put an end to the mounting chaos and the deaths, whose responsibility will be yours, will be counted in their thousands.' According to the organiser of the letter the true number of signatories is 10,000.

This is more than just about France's sluggish internal struggle against Islamic terrorism. It is strident criticism of current French 'values' and what it claims is the growing 'laxism' of the French political class that will inexorably lead to 'explosion'. Railing against 'anti-racist' values, whose 'sole aim is to create on our soil ill-feeling, even hatred between communities', it fulminates against the 'banlieues mobs' who have created no-go areas where dogma alien to France's constitution flourishes. It is chillingly evocative, in its rebuke of the political class, of General Challe's radio broadcast from Algiers following the 1961 coup.

At first there was silence by French authorities, partly out of embarrassment that such a state of affairs should occur in an advanced democracy. Continue... <https://www.spectator.co.uk/article/france-s-military-wages-war-on-macron-s-values>

UK: Islam Takes Over the Royal Navy

Symbolism is highly significant. The Senior Service in the UK is the Royal Navy. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Her_Majesty%27s_Naval_Service

The most significant monument of the Royal Navy is Nelson's Column in Trafalgar Square. It commemorates the victory of Admiral Lord Nelson over the combined fleets of France and Spain at the Battle of Trafalgar, 21st October 1805. The defeat of the Napoleonic navy put an end to the plans to invade England. https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Battle_of_Trafalgar

In May 2021, the message "EID MUBARAK" together with the Shahada (declaration of faith, in Arabic) was projected onto Nelson's Column. The Mayor of London Sadiq Khan sent a message of delight.

Symbolically the Royal Navy has now been taken over by Islam. Not yet physically of course, that will take several more decades. However, the territory has now been marked, in the same way that a dog urinates on a lamp post, the message is very clear and unambiguous.

Today there is an ongoing invasion of the UK by mainly Muslim men of fighting age, arriving in large numbers on our shores via rubber dinghies. The Royal Navy appears to do very little to halt this invasion. Indeed, the RNLI and Border Force vessels bring in these illegal immigrants into Dover and elsewhere, after they have been escorted to mid-channel by French patrol vessels. Admiral Lord Nelson would surely be turning in his grave.

The stated aim of Islam is that religion should only be for Allah:

Koran 9:29 Fight against such of those who have been given the Scripture as believe not in Allah nor the Last Day, and forbid not that which Allah hath forbidden by His messenger, and follow not the Religion of Truth, until they pay the tribute [jizya] readily, being brought low.

See the Abrogated Koran. The PDF is a free download: hellish2050.com

And read Concise Islam, also available via this website.

Islam aims to take over the entire world, such that every country will be controlled by Muslims. Christians and Jews may be permitted to continue with their own religions, provided that they pay the jizya tax, as a sign that they are subdued and feel themselves to be inferior. There is no secret that the dominance of Islam is the aim and intention — Islam is supremacist and totalitarian. It has been happening for 14 centuries and is ongoing. Migration (Hijrah) is a core element of Islam, in fulfilment of the commands by their prophet Mohammed to spread Islam, by use of physical violence when necessary, and by use of deceit. Traditionally the world is divided, according to Islamic teachings, into Dar al-Islam (the land of Islam) and Dar al-Harb (the land of war). Only after the countries in Dar al-Harb are subdued in the name of Allah do they become Dar al-Islam. This Islamic view of the world has been known among Western nations for many centuries, until relatively recently (2001, following the 9/11 attack on the USA), whereupon mainstream politicians in the West have utterly denied this reality. They are all parroting the same lies, irrespective of whether they are on the left or the right of the political spectrum. They blatantly deceive the public regarding the existential threat from Islam itself.

The Royal Navy has the responsibility of carrying the UK Nuclear Deterrent. Nuclear armed missiles are loaded on board submarines, which are continuously deployed at sea. — always at least one nuclear-armed submarine is on patrol.

If the current demographic trajectory continues, then at some point in the latter half of this century there will very probably be a Muslim majority in the UK. Calculating when exactly this may happen is not easy, because such projections can only be based on current trends. Factors that cannot be anticipated may intervene. However, depending on the scenario, the Muslim majority in the UK may occur within the time period 2050 to 2070.

Islam is already flexing its muscles, and there seems to be nobody in a position of authority or influence to speak out against it. Islam is likely to be in control of the UK well before Muslims becomes a majority. Demographically they will be strong, forming the younger, more active part of the population, while non-Muslims become older and less active.

The “point of no return” date, after which it becomes impossible to reverse the Islamisation of the UK, is much more significant than the date when Muslims form a majority. The “point of no return” seems to be when the Muslim population reaches 22% or thereabouts. Depending on the scenario, for the UK this may well be within the date range 2030 to 2040. We are perilously close to this date, and it will take immense effort and determination if we are to avert a tragedy. There is no time to waste.

In May 2019 I wrote to the then Defence Secretary Penny Mordaunt, pointing out this threat, and furthermore that the UK must remove all of its nuclear weapons well before the “point of no return” date. She did not herself reply, however the Ministry of Defence (MoD) did reply and was entirely dismissive that the problem even exists. The letters are reproduced in the “Hellish 2050” book, chapter “MOD CAPITULATION”. The PDF of this book is a free download: hellish2050.com

Here is the relevant extract from the letter sent by the MoD:

“As you will be aware there is no place in Britain for hatred against people because of their race, gender, ethnic origin, faith, sexual orientation, age or disability. We, therefore, draw your attention to the fact that this includes anti-Muslim attacks, which are unacceptable in Britain, and that your assertions based around the future demographics of our society are both unfounded and unwelcome.”

The fact that Islam has now symbolically taken over the Royal Navy, by projecting a totalitarian Islamic slogan onto Nelson's Column, should make these concerns very real and urgent. The MoD has simply not understood the scale or scope of the problem that we face from Islam itself. Or if it has understood, it is being dishonest in denying that it exists. With parallels to the denial by the police and prosecution authorities of Muslim rape gangs, that for decades have been sexually abusing non-Muslim teenage girls. Mostly white working class, but also including some Hindu and Sikh girls.

I do urge the government to recognise that there is a binary choice to be made. There seems to be no rational third option available. Islam cannot be compromised with:

- EITHER remove Islam from any position of influence within the UK, and then strengthen the Armed Forces in order to defend against countries such as France that are becoming increasingly dominated by Islam. If France becomes controlled by Islam while retaining its nuclear weapons, then it becomes a serious threat to the UK.
- OR allow Islam to dominate the UK. However, if this option is chosen, it is absolutely imperative that the UK removes all nuclear weapons and all stockpiles of nuclear materials (such as 100 tonnes of Plutonium) from the UK, and send them to a relatively safe country for dismantling and disposal. Otherwise, the UK will, within the projected service life of such weapons, be controlled by Islam. This is deadly serious.

It is imperative that the government makes a positive decision, either way. And the government needs to clearly state to the public that such a decision is being made on behalf of the voters. It is simply not possible that matters can be allowed to drift as they currently are, with some vague hope that it will all work out well in the end. This simply does not happen.

At no point in history has a country with an increasingly dominant Muslim population been able to retain a cohesive, peaceful society. If you think otherwise, please state which country or countries have achieved this. Send me an email to: hellish2050@gmail.com with your answer!

The message “EID MUBARAK” and the Shahada (declaration of faith) were projected onto Nelson's Column, in celebration of Eid in May 2021. The Shahada, in English, states:

“I bear witness that none deserves worship except God, and I bear witness that Muhammad is the messenger of God.”

In other words, this denies the Christian principles, specifically the belief in the divinity of Jesus Christ. This message is subversive of the UK which is built upon Christian foundations. <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Shahada>

Islam is a violent supremacist ideology, which has a religious component. <https://www.jihadwatch.org/islam-101> The Royal Navy seems to have given up on the task of protecting the UK from the threat of Islam. They cannot even stop the rubber dinghies carrying thousands of fighting age men every year, no doubt including many jihadis too, across the English Channel! This is utterly shameful.

In France the military personnel, retired and current, can clearly see the looming problem, which is bad enough already, and is likely to become many times worse. They state that thousands will be killed. No, it will be millions murdered in the name of Allah. Think in terms of the Armenian genocide, and also the millions of Hindus murdered when Islam entered India. Islam does not change. It cannot, because nobody has the authority to change even a single word in the Koran. The Koran is the instruction manual for warfare and domination of every society that it encounters. It never changes.

Will the UK military personnel have the courage to speak out in defence of the UK from Islam, in the way that the French military personnel have done? Time is very rapidly running out.

The main political parties, namely the Conservatives, Labour, Lib Dems, SNP etc. are all pandering to Islam, as the Muslim vote becomes ever more significant due to the demographic changes. Yet as we see in France, an opinion poll shows that 58% of the people agree with the letter sent by the French generals. It may be that the UK opinion % of the threat of Islam is similar, if military veterans were to state it clearly and publicly. At the moment For Britain is the only political party of any significance that is properly registered with the Electoral Commission as a party able to officially take part in elections, and that is clearly and unambiguously opposed to Islam. Islam itself, not some wishy-washy terms such as "Islamism" or "extremism". The next election will de facto be a referendum on whether the UK is to become an Islamic state or not. Vote wisely!

Referendum on the United Kingdom's becoming an Islamic State
Vote only once by putting a cross <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> in the box next to your choice. It may be your last vote ever.
Should the United Kingdom remain a free democratic country or become an Islamic State?
A moderate Islamic State	 Conservatives	<input type="checkbox"/>
An extremist Islamic State	 Labour	<input type="checkbox"/>
Remain free and democratic	 FOR BRITAIN	<input type="checkbox"/>

Mayor of London

@MayorofLondon

Fantastic scenes from Trafalgar Square as Eid celebrations begin in London and around the world. Sending my warmest wishes to everyone observing—from my family to yours, #EidMubarak 🌙.

Conclusions

The first letter sent by the veteran French soldiers clearly states the problem. In summary the problems are:

- France is in peril and time is rapidly running out.
- The flag of France represents the honour of those who protect France. Today it is honourable to denounce those who are causing the disintegration of France.
- Unease and hatred have been created on French soil. There is a lack of respect for traditions.
- Islamic territories have been created within France, which seem to operate with their own laws, and not the laws of the Republic.
- The authorities use the police as proxy agents and scapegoats in the face of French people in yellow vests expressing their despair.
- The perils are increasing, and even a school teacher has been murdered in the name of Islam. Retired soldiers cannot sit back and do nothing while this is happening.
- The government must find the courage to address the problems, often by applying existing laws with determination would help. Doing nothing and remaining silent is the act of the guilty.
- If nothing is done to address the problems, ultimately there will be an explosion. At that point it would be a dangerous military mission to regain civilisation from Islam.
- Time has run out now. There is no time remaining to procrastinate.
- Civil war will be the responsibility of the government of today, which has done nothing effective to halt the problem.
- Deaths will number in the thousands, according to the letter. [More likely millions or tens of millions. Think in terms of the Armenian genocide, or the Lebanese civil war.]

A relevant quote from the letter, that needs to be heeded:

As Cardinal Mercier, Primate of Belgium, said: "When prudence is everywhere, courage is nowhere." So, ladies and gentlemen, enough procrastination, the hour is serious, the work is colossal; do not waste time and know that we are ready to support policies which will take into consideration the safeguard of the nation.

The response by the French government to the letter has been shameful. Rather than properly understanding and replying to the valid points that it has made, the government of France has condemned those who signed it as subversives. However it is the government itself that is subversive, for allowing Islam to take such a powerful and growing hold upon France. Islam is completely incompatible with the traditional French values of Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity. Just spend half an hour reading the Koran, and you can quickly confirm this fact for yourself.

It is recommended that you read the “Abrogated Koran”. It is a free download from website hellish2050.com

The response by the French public to the letter has been far more encouraging. An opinion poll shows that 58% of the public agree with the letter. Clearly it is the current French government that is completely out of step with public opinion.

The situation does feel hopeless for France, and indeed for numerous Western nations, including the UK, that have rapidly increasing Muslim populations. However, the existence of the letter, and the encouraging opinion poll, gives us cause for hope. Let us hope that the democratic process can bring the election of a leader who understands the threat, and has the courage to act. It could happen.

Vive la France! Vive la liberté!

CONCISE ISLAM

Hellish2050.com

CAN THE KORAN BE BANNED IN SCOTLAND AND INDIA?

Hellish2050.com

BORIS SPREADS DISINFORMATION ABOUT ISLAM

Hellish2050.com

ABROGATED KORAN

IN REVERSE
CHRONOLOGICAL ORDER

hellish2050.com

ISLAM VERSUS HUMAN RIGHTS

HAMAS CHARTERS

